

Patties manufactured by Pearsalls Surgical combine the experience of processing textiles for over 200 years with the precision of modern equipment and the latest clean room environment.

Cotton – Telfa® -Synthetic

The highest quality materials are chosen to give outstanding absorption and strength while maintaining softness.

Tail Strings

Manufactured from silk with the same precision as suture material to provide a softness and drape.

X-ray Detectable Thread

Is sewn at the edge of the pattie to give a maximum working area and to eliminate abrasion.

Double Wrapping

With an easy peel pouch to provide for sterile procedures.

Count Cards

Provided with smaller sizes for easy handling and the security of a counting facility.

Cotton

With 100% cotton these patties have a maximum capillarity, absorption, flexibility and area of usage. High wet strength is achieved without binding agents.

Linteens

Surgical strips used to absorb or protect larger areas of the operating field.

Micro Patties

Where visibility of the field is at a premium and the patties must be as unobtrusive as possible.

Telfa®

Produced from cotton with an integrated perforated film layer for low adherence to the wound surface.

Telfa® is a Registered Trademark of the Kendall Company.

Synthetic

For stronger patties with higher tensile strength when wet.

Pearsalls Surgical is associated with Pearsalls Sutures who manufacture textile materials for surgical sutures and Pearsalls Implants who design and develop precision textile structures for surgical implants.

BATCH NUMBERING

All patties are marked with a batch number which identifies the date of production, materials used and details of Quality Control tests . Records of dispatches of each batch are maintained so that recall of individual batches can be effected in accordance with Good Manufacturing Practice.

QUALITY

Pearsalls Ltd quality system conforms to ISO 9001 2000 and the manufacture of patties conforms to ISO 13485 2003. We are audited twice a year to ensure that we continue to meet the highest standards that can be achieved. Our notified body is SGS Yarsley.
